Foreword

The class of 1951, desiring to remember the many friends we have made among the faculty and students, and the traditions in which we have participated and pioneered, has set forth the following pages to remind us of our many days at Paterson State. Our college life is over now and we enter into a new day of living. Let us look back on what has been our day and listen to the music that reminds us that . . . . . .

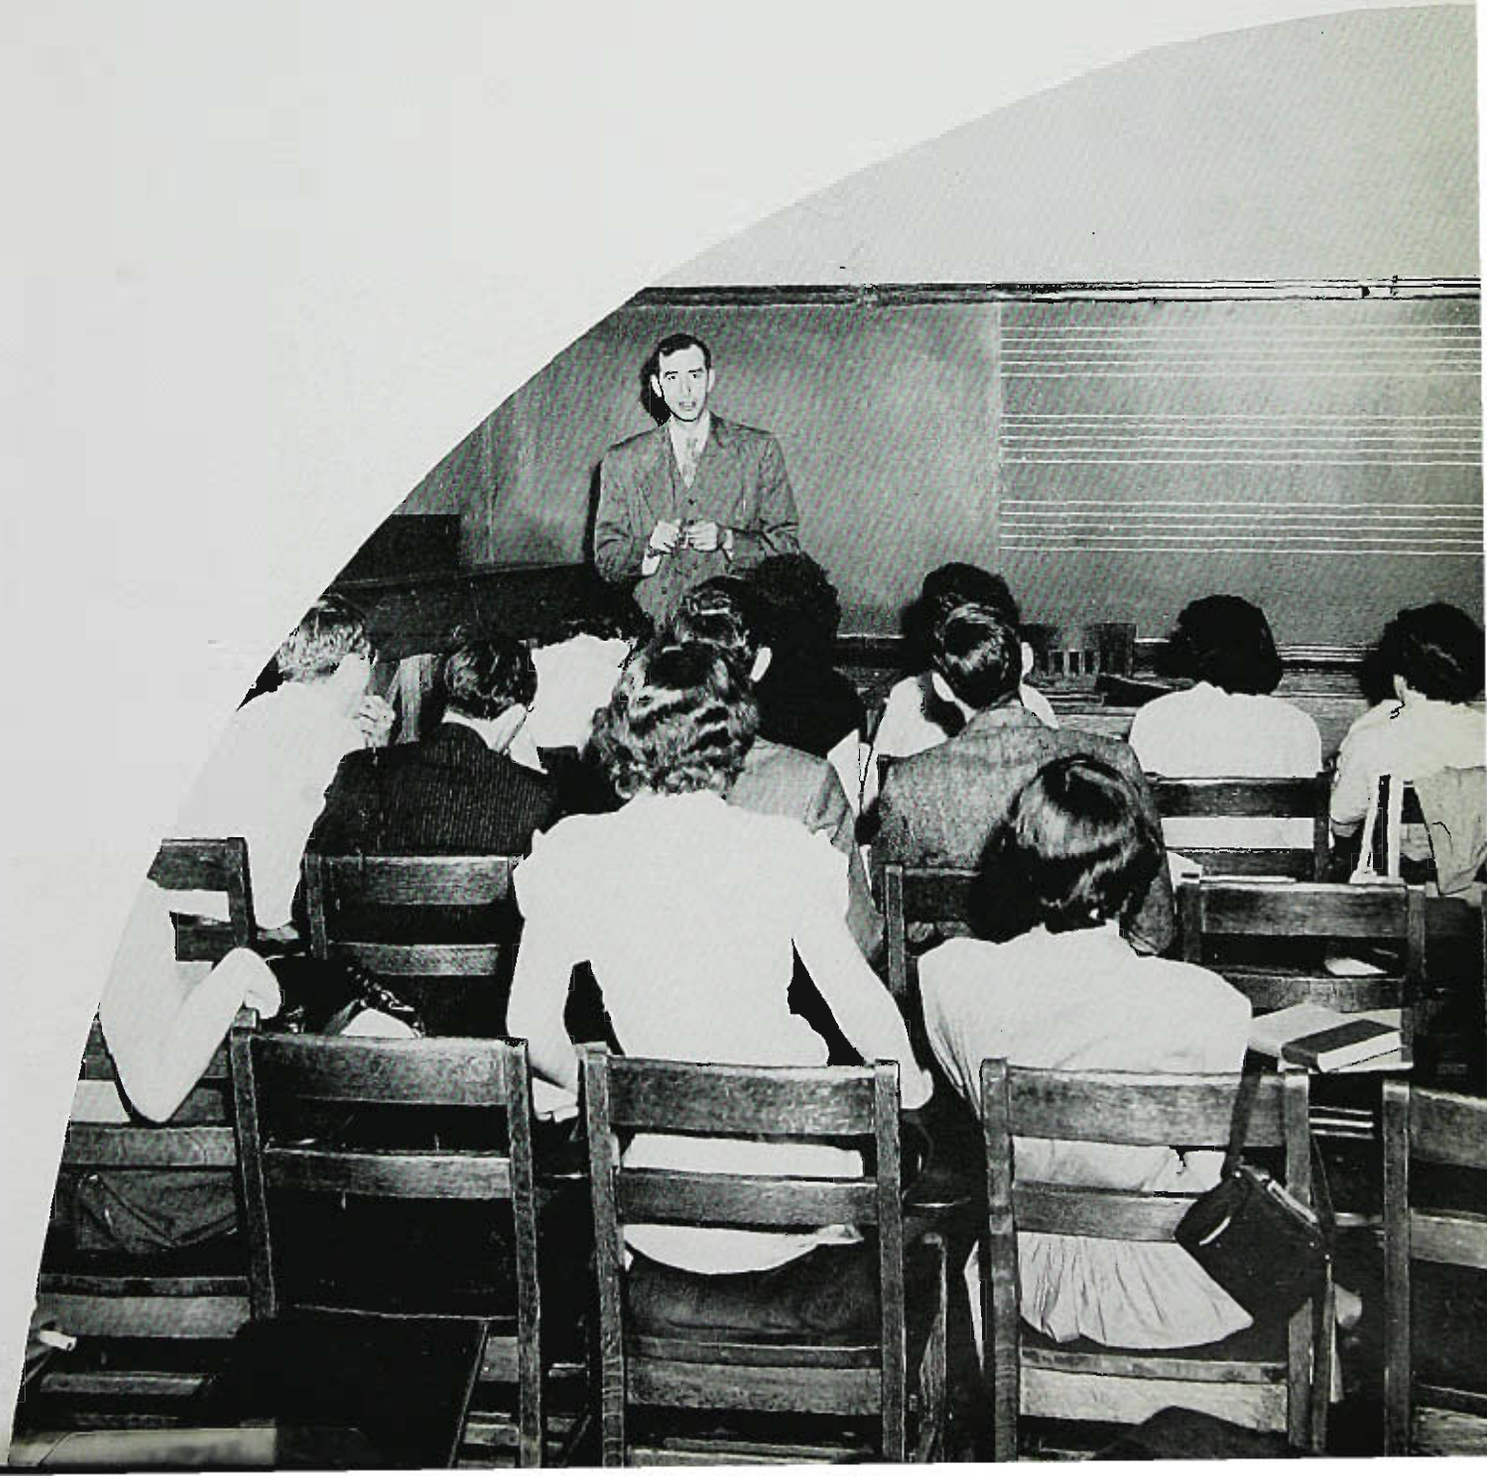

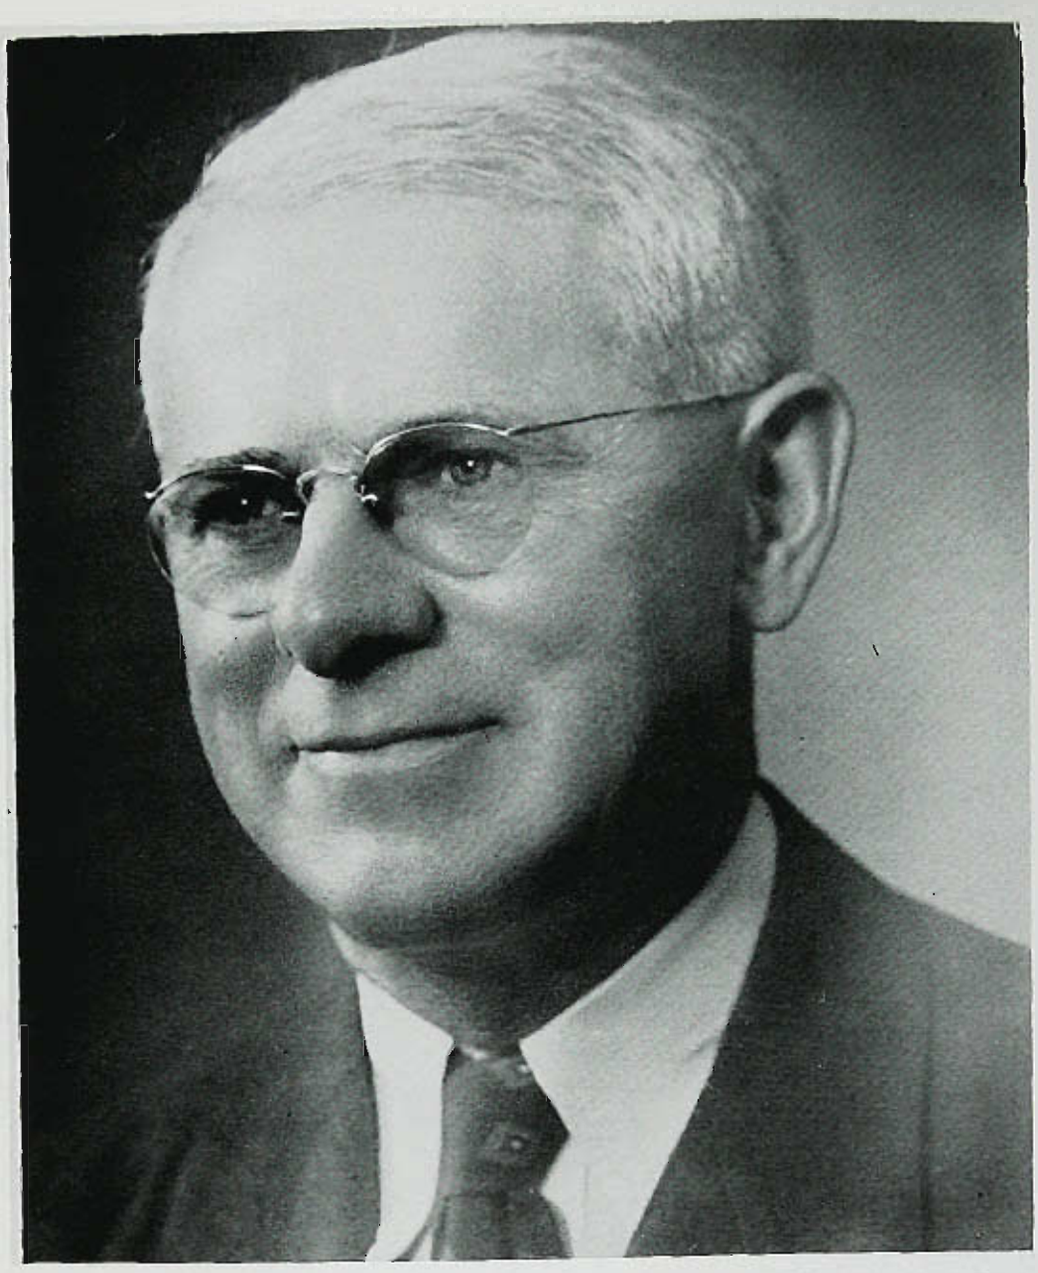

Now The Day Is Over.....

EARL WEIDNER

"Music hath charm"—therein lies an explanation for Mr. Weidner's pleasant personality. His relaxed and easy, friendly manner is quite at odds with the popular conception of a college "prof." It's difficult for us to be sober and serious about an individual with the ready wit and hearty laugh that one associates with Earl Weidner; however, we do wish to say "thanks" and to extend our heartiest appreciation to this man who has cheered and brightened our days at State. Our pleasant memories of Mr. Weidner and Paterson State will not quickly fade from mind.

Early in the present century I graduated from high school and, with no professional preparation I started to teach. During my first three years' teaching I made so many mistakes that I gave up my position and went to college to learn to teach. There were many inducements at that time to do other things, and financial difficulties tempted me to give up, but I had enjoyed my first experiences in the great profession of teaching and I was determined that nothing would deter me.

Nearly forty years have now passed since my first day as a teacher in a rural school, and I am more convinced than ever that our profession is second to none. I have infinite faith that through education we may be able to create a world in which we shall have peace. My years of teaching experience intensify my faith in education as an instrument for promoting peace.

The world that I want to help create is one in which the dignity and worth of the individual person is always supreme. I urge you, too, to help create a world in which there is freedom to learn and freedom to teach.

When you entered college four years ago my greeting to you terminated with this statement: "I trust that your work at our college will progress in harmony with your finest ideals." Now I repeat this statement but with a slight change. "I trust your work in the teaching profession will progress in harmony with your finest ideals."

Clair S. Wightman

The four years that have passed have been rich in experiences for you - - the "tradition-makers." From the time you were freshmen, until the culmination of the present phase of your educational career, you have blazed new trails, both as individuals and as a class. In every year, the Class of '51 initiated and carried to its successful conclusion at least one innovation, some of which have already become traditions.

What you have learned in your college careers has not been found solely in your courses, as you well know. Your participation in any of the activities sponsored by your class and your college has been proof of your willingness to work with and for your fellow students. Such accomplishments are truly yours because they are products of your own initiative and enterprise. They have been as much a preparation for your career as the subject matter you have learned.

This past four year period has been rich in experience for your adviser, too. From the first day when I met you all in the auditorium until the last day when I stand on the platform at Commencement with you, your class problems and class fun have been mine, too.

I wish you success in all your endeavors, as I have wished it for you these past years. May the tradition-making qualities of the Class of '51 always be a part of you. May the Class of '51 always have a part in Paterson State. May you make your mark in the career you have chosen - - teaching, a challenging profession!

Shadows of

September of 1947 found us wide-eyed and bewildered freshmen eagerly anticipating the good times and valuable experiences our new college life had to offer. We marveled at the aged wisdom of the seniors, the poise and self-assuredness of the juniors and the nonchalantness of the sophomores. Before long we were assimilated to college life, and realized that we as individuals and as a class had definite responsibilities both academically and socially, for the success of our college life.

With our scholastic endeavors well in hand, we were able to enjoy the fun and gaiety of our first college dance, the Freshman Frolic on Halloween. Because of the foresight and resourcefulness of our predecessors, we were experiencing, for the first time, some of the traditions of the college, that added so much to our college life. At the same time, we were trying to establish some of our own traditions in order that others might benefit from our experiences. With the rush on of the second semester, more newcomers joined our class and we had the pleasure of welcoming them in at a dance given in their honor.

As light hearted sophomores, do you remember our wonderful Soph Hop? What a gala accasion it was, with the crowning of the Campus Queen. This too, became one of the many school traditians. A dream had come true when we held our class picnic on the new campus, it was a first to be remembered. As our sophomore year waned, the crucial time arrived when we would find out whether we would be accepted into the upper division.

the Evening

That milestone was crossed, and we entered our junior year with an added seriousness and increased enthusiasm in teaching. Our third year in college offered mony opportunities to gain practical experience in warking with children. It was a great thrill, during aur junior practicum, to finally do the things we had waited for so long. We felt quite important when we, as big sisters and brothers, welcamed in the new freshmen by giving a Junior-Freshman Picnic at the new campus. We were all so proud of the Manor House on the new campus that we held our Junior Prom there — the high light of our junior year. Who cauld help but have a grand time amid all that atmosphere of gaiety?

Before we realized it, our senior year was upon us and we were the aged and wise seniors. Again we established another tradition we hoped would be carried on by the underclassmen, that was having a senior table in the cafeteria. But most of all we carried awoy with us the memories of aur practice teaching, the Senior Ball, the Faculty, Parent and Senior Tea and Commencement.

Naw the day is over . . . some regrets . . . some memories we wish to cherish . . . but above all the termination of our college days does not seem to be merely a goal in life, now completed, but rather a milestone founded on helpful experiences which can be used in realizing life's ultimate goals.

"Pure and fresh and sinless..."

Seniors of '52

Seniors of '53

Seniors '54

The Seniors of 1954 have proved themselves to be a very cooperative group. They have been participating actively in all school organizations and have attended the various functions faithfully. We deeply regret not being able to have a photograph to remember them by, but we'll remember them individually and as a group by the work they have done.

Treasurer . . . . . James Pate

The Student Government Association is just what its title indicates. It is composed of duly elected representatives of the student body, and within certain limits solves their problems. Theirs is the responsibility for arranging assembly programs, maintaining bulletin board service, approving or disapproving activities for raising funds and, in general, serving as the medium through which to clear recommendations to the college administration.

Student Co-op

This organization is a corporation set up in accordance with an amendment to the constitution of the S. G. A. to hold and disburse student funds and to operate the book store and other activities as may be decided by the administration and the S. G. A. There are twelve trustees of the corporation equally divided between faculty and student representatives.

Kappa Delta Pi

Zeta Alpha Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, National Honor Society in education, was established at Paterson State on May 31, 1945. Members are selected from the senior and junior classes on the basis of scholarship and leadership by a committee of faculty and student members and must be approved by the president of the college. Dr. Louise E. Alteneder serves as their counselor.

Pi Omega Pi

Beta Omega Chapter of Pi Omega Pi, a national honorary business education fraternity, was formally installed at Paterson State Teachers College on June 8, 1950. Twenty alumni, junior and senior students, and faculty were initiated as charter members at the installation ceremonies and banquet held at the new campus. Mr. Louis C. Nanassy serves as their sponsor.

Who's Who

Each year a number of seniors and juniors are chosen for listing in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." The selection is based on scholarship and personality traits of the individual student.

Library . . . . . Etta Brigeari
Historian . . . . . Sheila Frost
Advisor . . . . . Dr. Mark Karp

The Robert H. Morrison Chapter of the F. T. A. is a club which gives students, majoring in teacher education, a better understanding of education in our democratic school system. Many projects are carried on throughout the year. These include speakers in the field of education, panel discussions, and participation in the annual conference of F. T. of A. held in Trenton in the Spring.

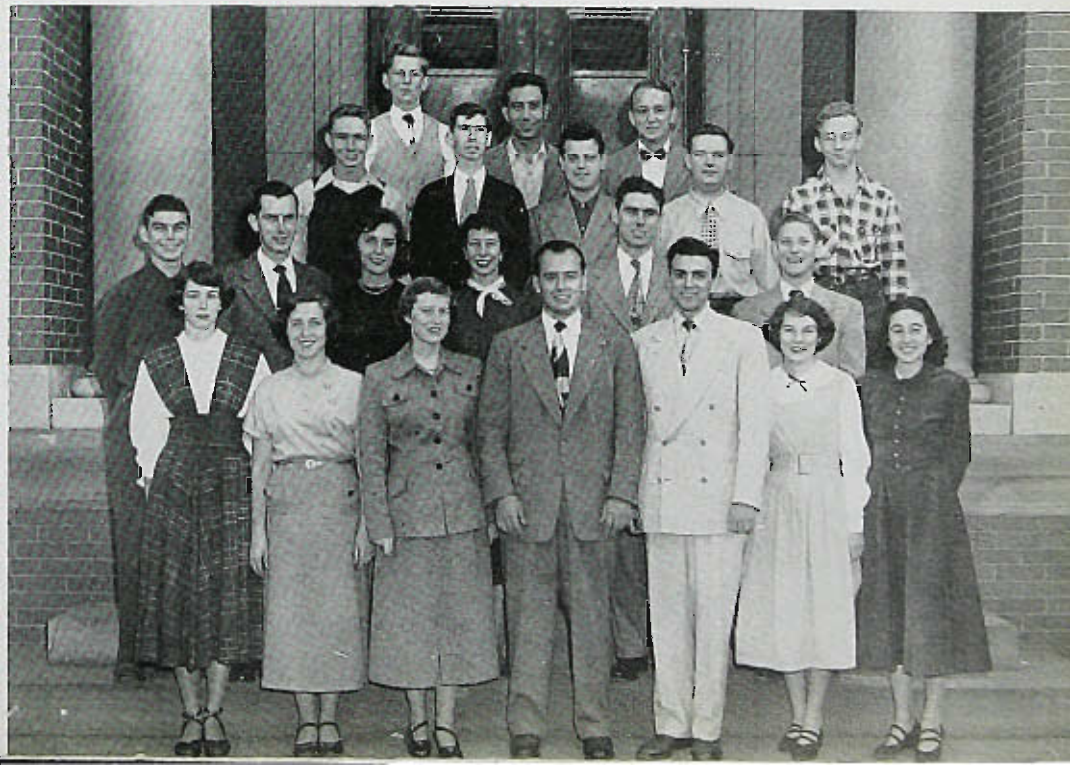

Outdoor Ed. Club

Outdoor Education Club

President . . . . . James Lomauro
Vice-President . . . . . Joseph DiGangi
Secretary . . . . . Miriam Gorman
Advisor . . . . . Mr. Eugene Vivian

This group is composed of congenial spirits who really love the great out-doors. Their work is mainly in connection with the New York-New Jersey Trail Conference and their activities concern themselves mainly with the exploration of historical trails in the conference area by means of a series of hikes and conference meetings.

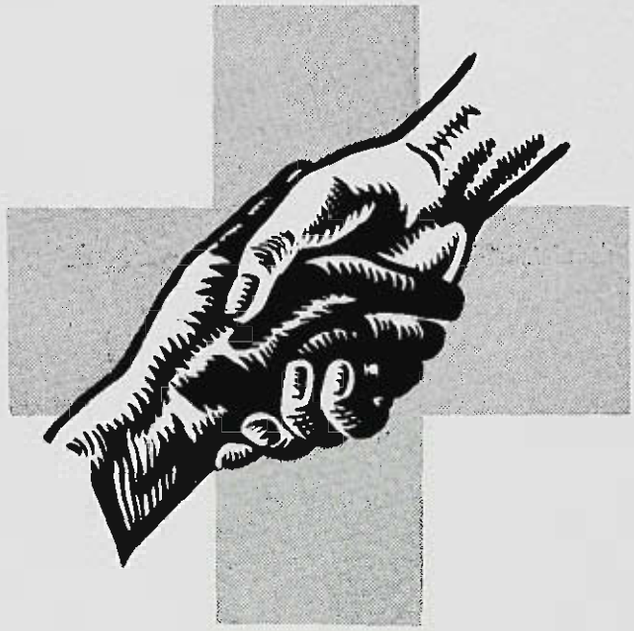

Human Relations Society

President . . . . . Robert Hilton
Vice-President . . . . . June Daalder
Secretary-Treasurer . . . . . Julia Periera
Advisor . . . . . Dr. Louise Alteneder

This is the former Psychology Club under a new and more descriptive title. The members of this organization propose to visit and study numerous state agencies and institutions and promote a better understanding of the needs and the shortcomings of others. As a result of their efforts, it is hoped that more individuals will be encouraged to take an active part in some social service within the community.

Red Cross

Chairman . . . . . Ruth McGuirk
Vice-Chairman . . . . . Sydel Kaplan
Secretary-Treasurer . . . . . Gloria Bevelacqua
Advisor . . . . . Miss Christie Jeffries

It would be superfluous to try and describe the college Red Cross Unit. It is enough to say that its aims and purposes are identical with those of the American Red Cross. The students give to it the same support and interest that it receives elsewhere and work through an International Understanding Program with students abroad to obtain its objectives.

Debits and Credits

President . . . . . Paul Nixon
Vice-President . . . . . Dan Gillan
Recording Secretary . . . . . Lois Holterhoff
Corresponding Secretary . Margarita Rodriguez
Treasurer . . . . . Arthur Nelson
Member-at-large . . . . . Robert Brand

Debits and Credits is the Business Education Club of the college and is the gathering place for those students who are majoring in Business Education. By this means a closer social relationship is developed among members of the group. Their activities during the year embrace visits to business organizations and demonstrations, picnics and dinners, as well as the opportunity to hear qualified speakers in their particular field.

P&Q Club

President . . . . . Joan Kuiper
Vice-President . . . . . Diane D'Agostina
Secretary-Treasurer . . . . . Lois Cooke
Advisor . . . . . Miss Elizabeth Rinaldi

The P & Q Club is essentially a social group which has as its prime objective the stimulation of interest in correct social conduct on the part of its members. Knowledge of which fork to use and which dress to wear—and how to wear it—in the long run makes for happier living, and this club is a means to that end.

A very active group, they give a tea for the faculty, have a New York Theatre party and a spring picnic. The members are frequently called upon to serve at various local functions as ushers, hostesses and escorts at concerts, and to assist at teas.

Masque and Masquers

President. . . . . Rosalie Pirrone
Vice-President. . . . . Paul Nixon
Secretary. . . . . Margaret Capella
Treasurer. . . . . Vera Pizerelli

When the glare of the footlights and the smell of grease paint cast their spell, the student body as a whole benefits through the Masque and Masquers. This is the college dramatic club whose semi-annual presentations are on a very high level. They are highly regarded, not only as a source of entertainment, but as a means of gaining experience in the dramatic field.

Acapella Chorus

This chorus of both male and female voices gives the students the opportunity to develop their interest in good music. During the last term this organization presented a program of carols for Christmas. The chorus plans to continue the presentation of performances of this caliber. Mr. Earl Weidner is the faculty advisor.

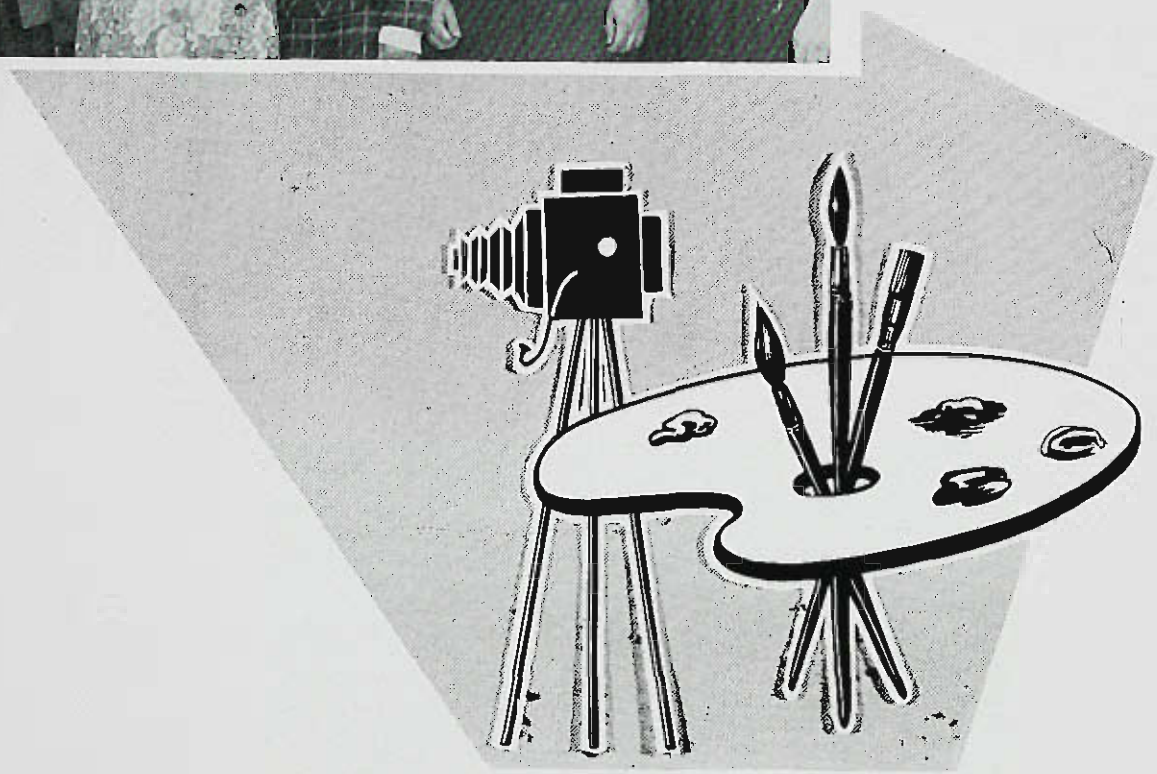

Paletteers

President . . . . . Gail Hardy
Vice-President . . . . . Thomas Olsen
Secretary-Treasurer . . . . . Lois Knopf
Faculty Advisor . . . . Miss Marguerite Tiffany

The Art Club provides a satisfactory outlet for those whose talents incline towards the various handicrafts. It encourages the development of latent abilities and combines work with play. During the course of a year many interesting speakers on the arts are heard, and the members look forward to field trips to various museums and exhibits.

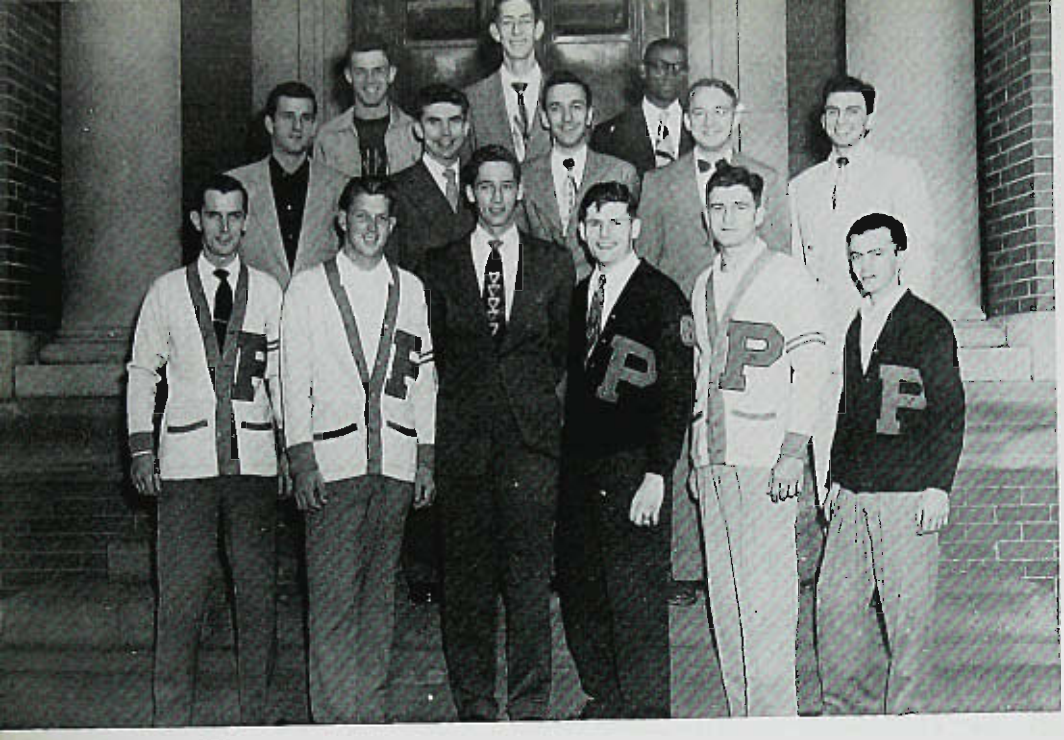

Photography Club

President . . . . . Arthur J. Balshan
Vice-President . . . . . Joan Sturmdorf
Secretary . . . . . Peggy Ann Connolly
Treasurer . . . . . Tony Homcy
Faculty Advisor . . . . . Mr. Herbert Califano

The Photography Club is a hobby club, but it is one with serious underlying aims. They have had their photographs appear in local newspapers and last year's photographs for the "Beacon" were taken by members of the club.

Their aims are to improve the technique of the individual members; to interest more persons in photography as a hobby and, among other things, to record a photographic history of the new campus.

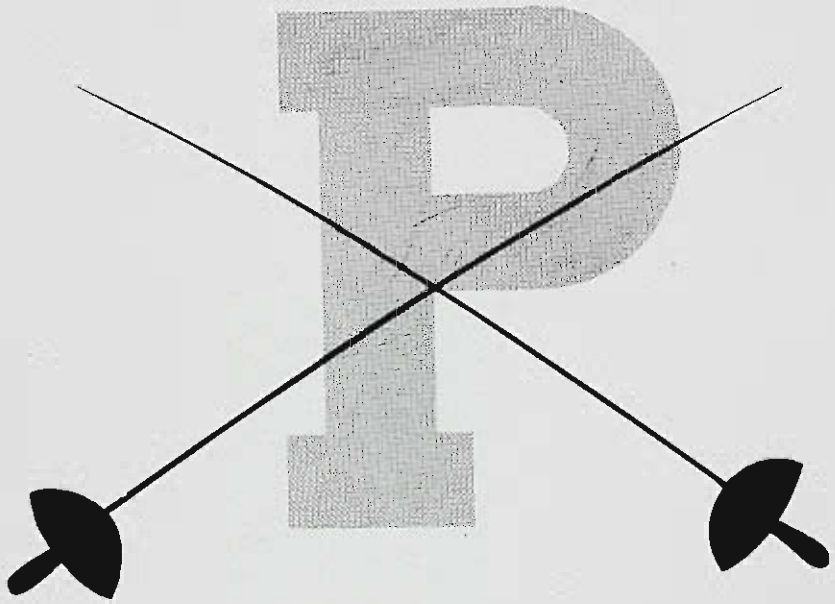

Varsity Club

President . . . . . Tom Donnelly
Secretary . . . . . Norman Reichert
Treasurer . . . . . Donald Van Orden
Advisor . . . . . Mr. Raymond Schnitzer

Membership in the Varsity Club is restricted to those men who have won the ever popular varsity letter in one of the sports at Paterson State.

The teamwork exhibited by these men shows the true spirit of State.

Swords Club

Manager . . . . . Arlene Ruben
Captain . . . . . Margaret Cappello
Advisor . . . . . Mr. Raymond Miller

The members of this club get a great deal of experience fencing with the colleges and universities in this area, and the season ends with an intercollegiate tournament. Many of the fencers belong to the Amateur Fencers League of America. The only requirement for joining this club is—enthusiasm.

Geography Club

President . . . . . Marion White
Vice-President . . . . . Guy Lott
Secretary . . . . . Natalie Henderson
Treasurer . . . . . Ida Freeman
Advisor . . . . . Dr. Edith R. Shannon

The title of this group describes it very well. Too many of us know too little of our country's geography and the Geography Club helps to fill this gap in our knowledge by means of exhibits, films, and other visual aids. They also familiarize themselves with the latest geographical books, and materials in addition to visiting places of geographical interest.

Science Club

President . . . . . George Ameer
Vice-President . . . . . Audrey Skoski
Secretary . . . . . Elvera Olsen

This club is a new addition to Paterson State as of this year. It was organized to help students gain practical application of experiments along with what they receive in class. They learn to perform various experiments with equipment they can make and learn what grade level each is suited for. Mr. Califano, Dr. Baker, and Mr. Blaustdin assist them in their work.

Gamma Phi Lambda

President . . . . . Nancy Lawlor
Vice-President . . . . . Rose Rigagliosi
Corresponding Secretary . . . . . Adeline Niclus
Recording Secretary . . . . . Rosalie Garrabrant
Treasurer . . . . . Dolores Palish

Girls gathered together to promote good will and understanding among themselves and their college classmates.

Theta Delta Rho

President . . . . . Joan Reed Fisher
Vice-President . . . . . Clara Michealowski
Treasurer . . . . . Marlene Dietrich
Recording Secretary . . . . . Nancy Kley
Corresponding Secretary . . Catherine Kennedy
Historian . . . . . Emilie Glaeklu
Adviser . . . . . Miss Marguerite Tiffany

This sorority consists of a group of very active girls. They participate in many of the school's activities and are the originators of the annual fashion show-card party.

Phi Omega Psi

President.....Lorraine Murin
Vice-President.....Miriam Gorman
Corresponding Secretary.....Marie Loof
Recording Secretary.....June Da Costa
Treasurer.....Virginia Moran
Advisor.....Miss Emily Greenaway

The second oldest sorority in the school tries to keep abreast with new developments in the field of education and provides ample opportunity for recreational activity and relaxation.

Zeta Kappa Chi

President.....Joyce Trinks
Vice-President.....Mary Young
Secretary.....Lois Cooke
Corresponding Secretary....Joan Borneman
Treasurer.....Jacqueline Baker
Faculty Advisor.....Dr. Louise Alteneder

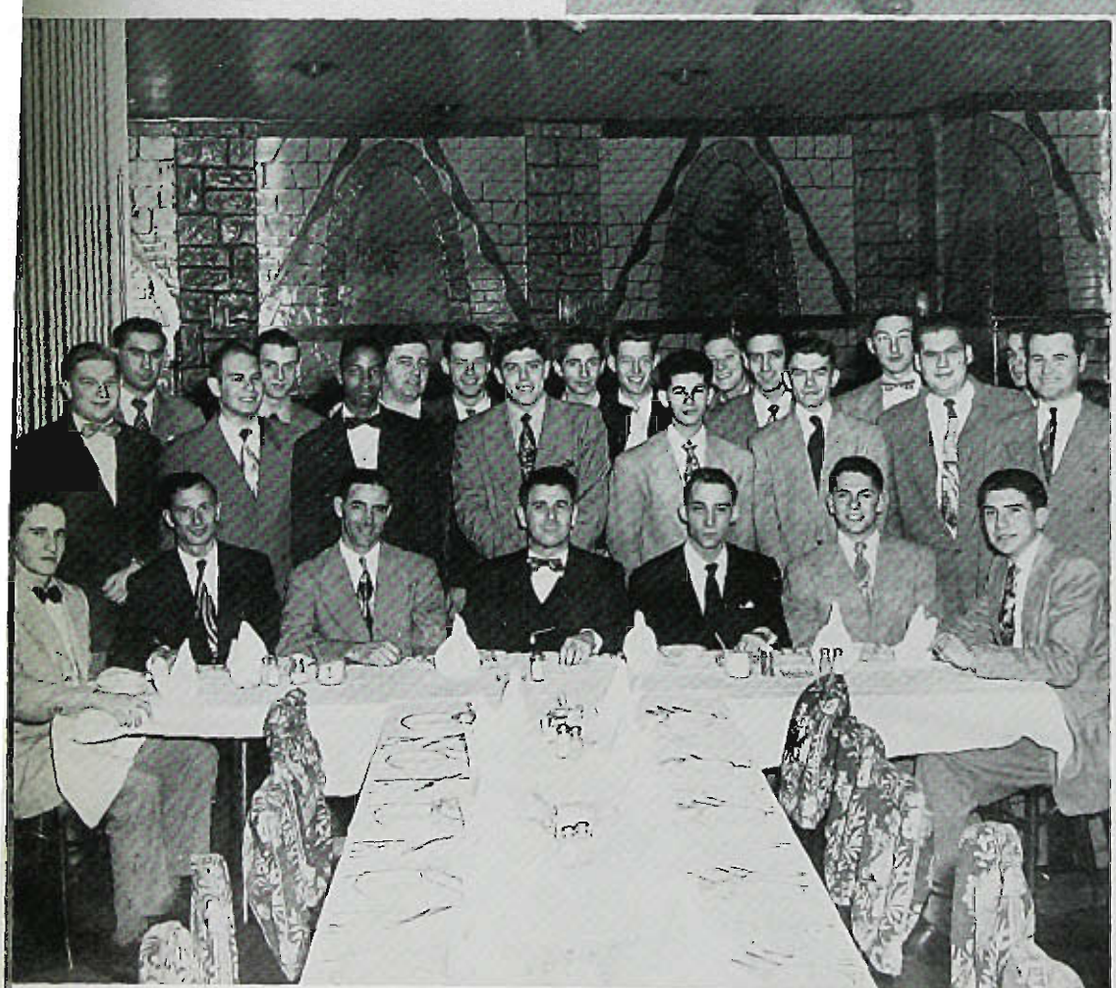

This sorority has been in existence for the past thirteen years. Its aims are to develop friendship between sorority and college; to continue contact with the college following graduation; and to do social work beneficial to others.

Delta Omega Epsilon

President ..... Richard De Lucia
Vice-president ..... Richard Della Penta
Recording Secretary ..... Harold Steindler
Corresponding Secretary ..... Guy Lott
Chaplain ..... Charles Strobino
Historian ..... Joseph Glorda
Advisor ..... Mr. Herbert Califano

This is one of the most recently organized fraternities an the college. Its aims and ideals are high and its membership is already so numerous as to indicate that in the near future it may be one of the outstanding organizations on the campus.

Phi Sigma Tau

President ..... John Flandrau
Vice-president ..... Kennith Emont
Secretary ..... Stanley Gruss
Treasurer ..... James Pate
Historian ..... John Corey
Sergeant-at-arms ..... Vincent Antoniuk
Advisor ..... Dr. Mark Karp

One of States newer fraternities organized to promote non-discrimination. Tau has great plans for the future.

Skull and Poniard

Master ..... Michael Mathews
Deputy Master ..... Thomas Ackershoek
Scribe ..... Joeseph Trione
Corresponding Secretary ..... Peter Tucci
Funds Master ..... George Brown

This is the oldest fraternity at State. It was organized to promote social welfare, offer a yearly scholarship, and to support the school's activities. Every spring the Skull sponsors an annual spring dance and provides many other activities during the year.

The cheerleaders, under the able leadership of Captain Joan Garaventa and Co-Captain Joan Lamela, have furnished much of the pep and enthusiasm of the basketball games. Without their zestful cheering many of the games would have been less spirited. The entire student body, along with the team, wishes to express their grateful thanks for their ceaseless energy.

Women's Athletic Association

President . . . . . Marie Loof
Vice-President . . . . . Nancy Lawlor
Secretary . . . . . Virginia Cabaluzzo
Treasurer . . . . . Dolores Martucci
Point Chairman . . . . . Etta Briguori
Historian . . . . . Marge Broman
Advisor . . . . . Miss Lee

The Women's Sport Club engages in Basketball, Softball, Bowling, Swimming, Tennis, and some other activities.

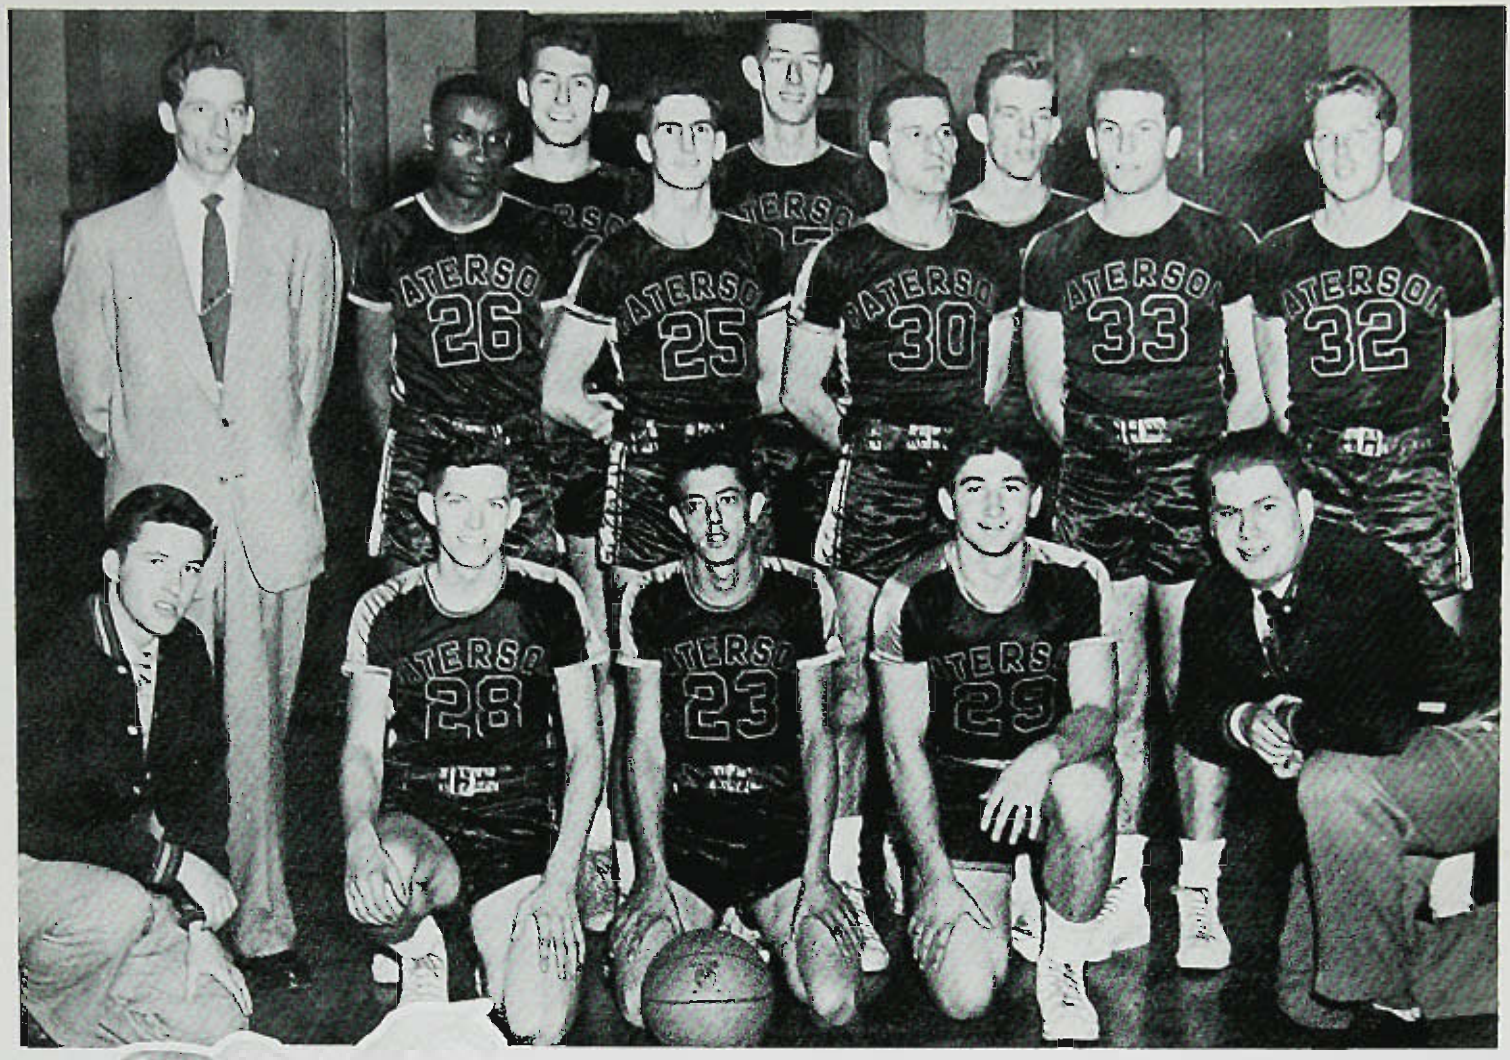

Besides the traditional Annual Play Day held every year, in which the entire afternoon is spent playing intercollegiate games, the girls also visit other colleges for basketball games.

This year the Women's Athletic Association secured the Y.M.C.A. for swimming instructions.

This club operates under a point system in which the girls may receive an athletic award. All the girls in the school may become members of the club and earn an award.

The 1950-51 basketball team, under the leadership of Mr. Raymond Schnitzer, enjoyed its most successful season in four years.

The squad, composed almost entirely of veteran players, developed a reputation as a "giant killer" despite its even record. Early in the season, the Pioneers snapped the unbeaten string of Fairleigh-Dickinson at nine. The Staters also handed losses to Newark Engineering, Bayonne Junior, Panzer, and Glassboro despite these teams' outstanding records.

Since the majority of the Pioneers' losses were by five points or less, more frequent smiles from Dame Fortune could easily have made this year's record really outstanding.

This year ended the college cage careers of Tom Donnelly and Norm Reichert after serving as mainstays of the team for four years. The outlook for next year is further dimmed by the fact that every other player has either been tapped for military service or is likely to be called.

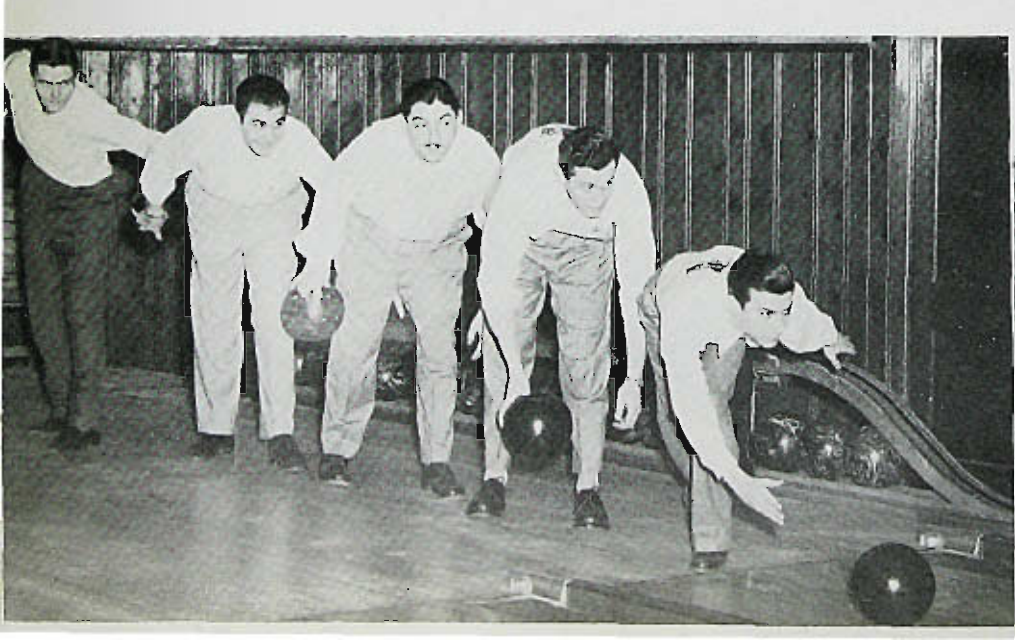

This year, the bowling team competed inter-collegiately for the first time as a spending agency of the M.A.A. This was only the second year that bowling was considered a major sport at Paterson State.

The 1950-51 edition of the bowlers followed the pattern set by their predecessors and enjoyed a fine season.

Members of the team included Charles Strobino, student player-coach; Joseph Giorda; Richard Della Penta; Allan Litke, team captain; John Fitzpatrick, and Frank Minor. Lawrence Ossi served as manager and Raymond Schnitzer was the faculty advisor.

Proudly wearing their new shirts, which displayed the Paterson State emblem and letters, the bowlers made their presence felt as well as known to their rivals.

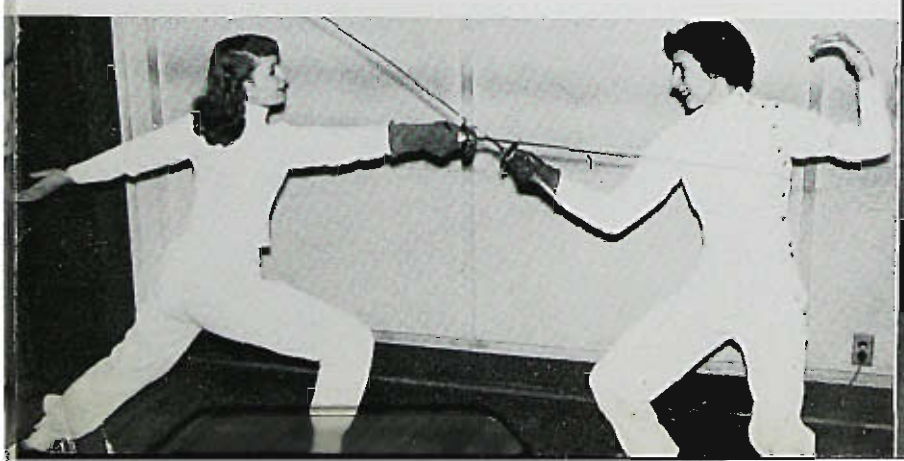

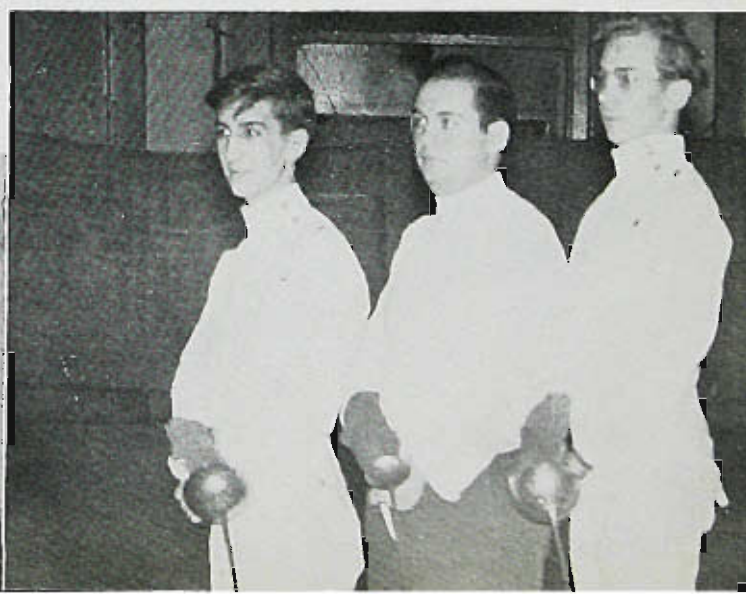

The fencing team, one of State's most successful teams, was coached by Mr. Raymond Miller this year as in the past. Fencing in all of the three weapons, foil, epee, and sabre, the team has achieved an enviable record in competition with such schools as Fordham, Drew, Pace, Stevens, C.C.N.Y., and many other local schools. The team has lost only four competitions in the last three years.

Fencing on the varsity squad were Thomas Kennedy, William Reda, Joseph Canova, Robert Hilton, Anthony Homcy, Allan Maksimoski, and Raymond VandenBerghe, all veteran performers.

With the close of this season, State will lose three of its ablest fencers, Canova, Hilton, and Reda, all of whom are being graduated.

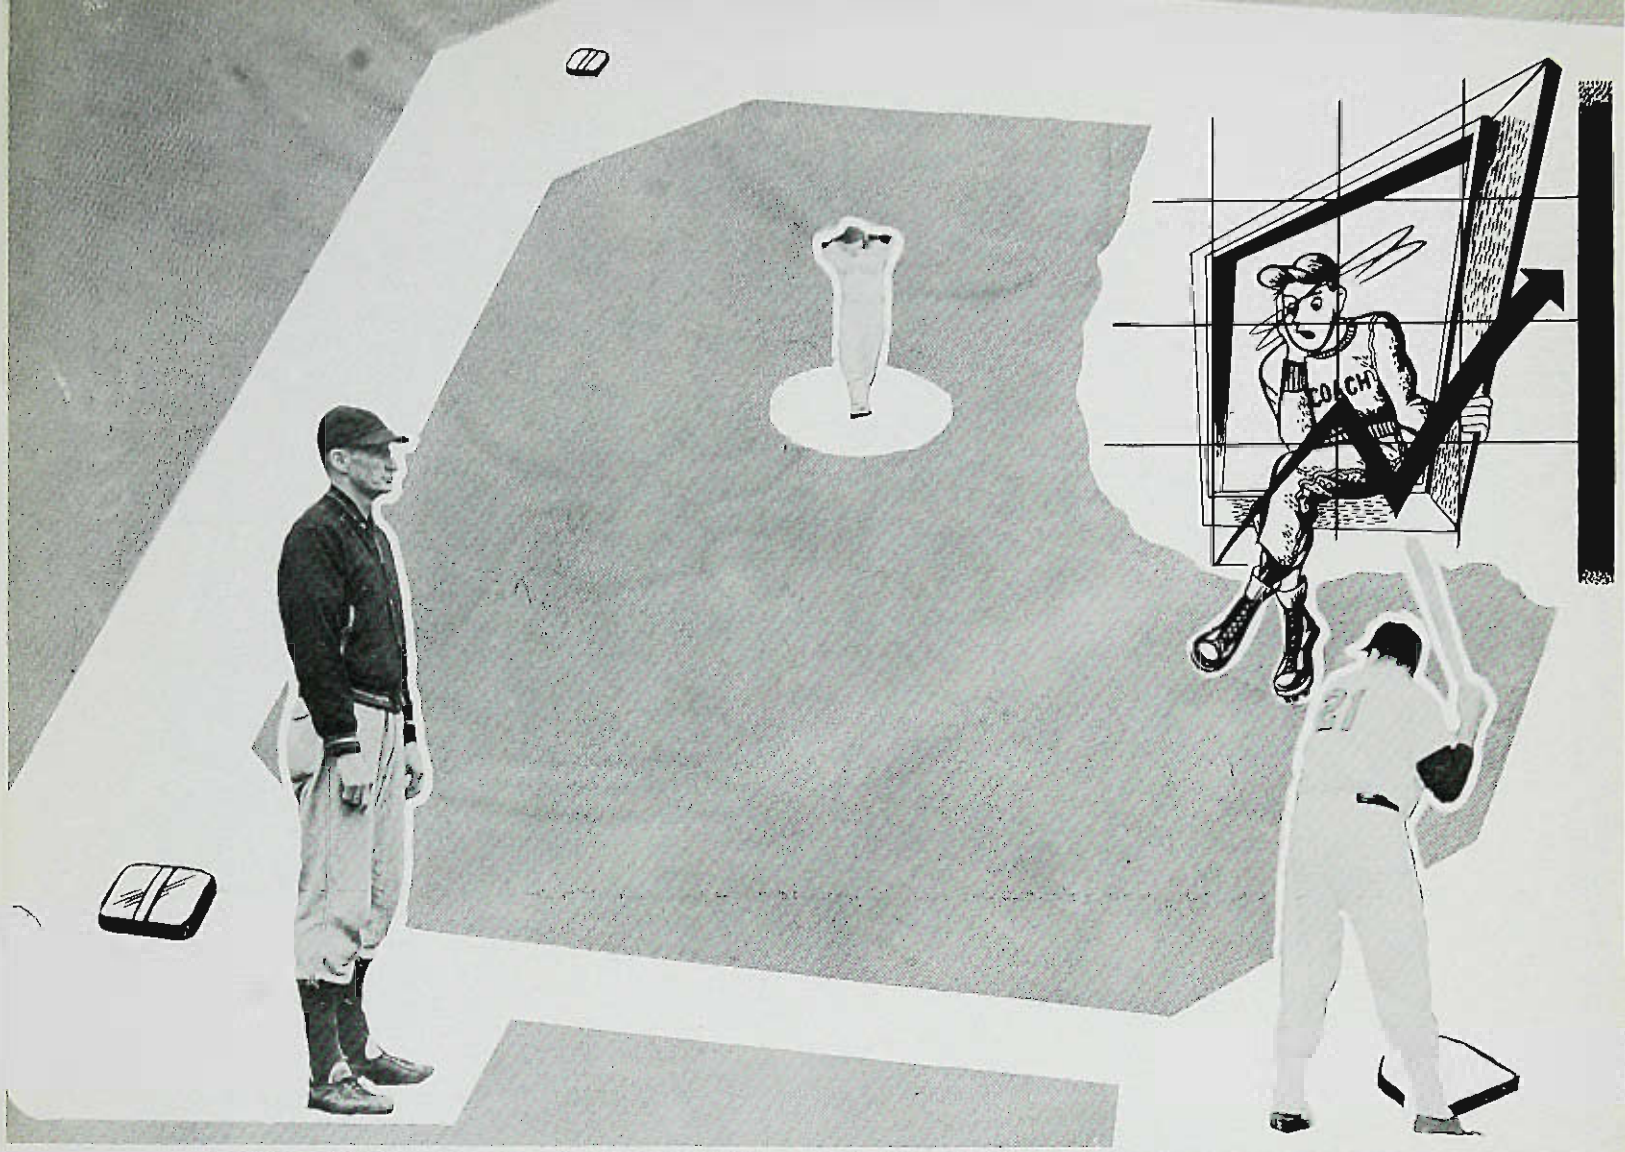

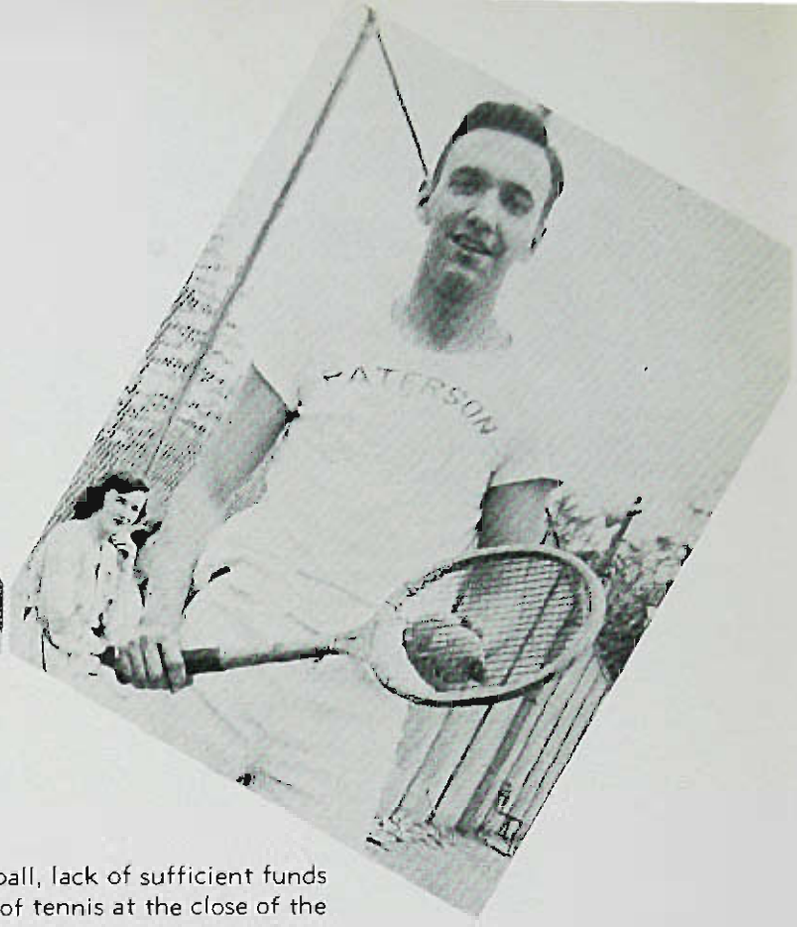

The 1950 season saw the end of baseball at State. Because of the lack of funds, facilities, and players, State was forced to suspend operations on the diamond until such time as these matters can be rectified. Due to these deficiencies, Paterson teams have suffered dreary seasons and overwhelming hardships. Not much can be said for their record, but what the record lacks, the team members more than made up for in team spirit, and the will to do their best.

COACH

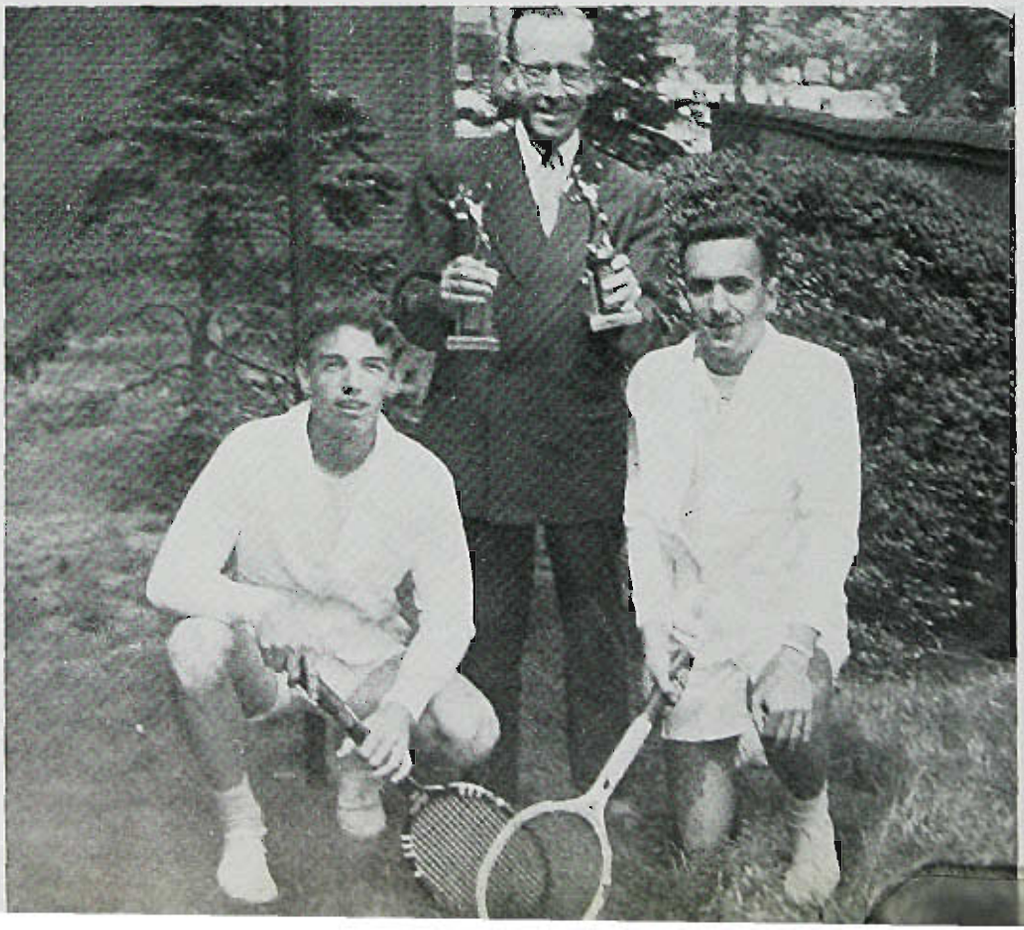

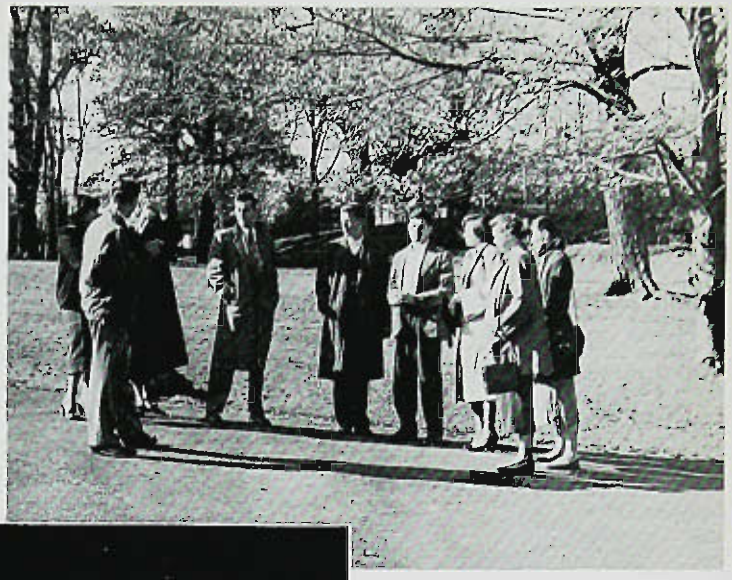

As was the case with baseball, lack of sufficient funds caused the temporary halt of tennis at the close of the 1950 season.

Although the team did not fare too well in dual meets, the season was brought to a successful close with Paterson State winning co-championship of the N.J.I.A.C. Tournament.

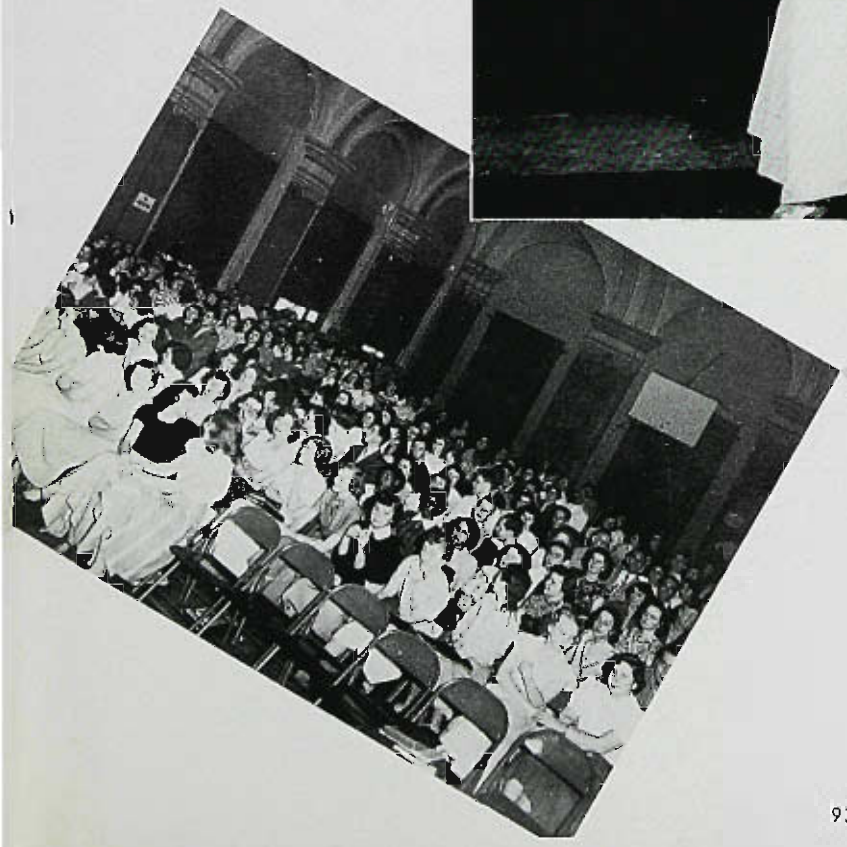

This co-championship was accomplished through the efforts of Dolson Conklin and Lloyd Wheeler who captured the doubles crown. As a result of this, the school was awarded a handsome trophy. The team was coached by Mr. Herbert Ellis.
